EASTERN G. O. P. HEADS TRY TO EVADE SPLIT

Many Think Borah To Run
For President In 1932 As Insurgent.

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—On the eleventh anniversary of the Armistice, ending the World War, "middle of the road" Republicans on Capitol Hill today anxiously sought an Armistice between opposing factions of the Republican party,
because of the danger of a "split"
Republican success in the elections of 1930 and 1932.

A definite and lasting breach between western insurgents and eastern industrialists, it was felt,
would have two catastrophic effects on the Republican party in the future:

1.—The creation of a third party
in 1932, similar to the Bull Moose movement of 1912 and with just as disastrous effects to the Republican party, with William E.
Borah, Hiram Johnson or George Norris running as an independent candidate for president against President Hoover and whoever wins the Democratic nomination.

2.—A bitter war between the opposing factions in the senatorial elections next year, with the probability of the insurgents winning all their elections while defeating many of the so-called
"old guard" Republicans who need independent support to return to the senate.

These spectacles thoroughly alarmed the "middle of the road"
Republicans and they anxiously sought to heal the breach that has sprung up with startling swiftness
during the tariff war.

One step was a general whispering that certain of the insurgents for their stand on the tariff must stop, that the tariff is a local issue on which the party can divide as to specific rates; that peace must be arranged, once the tariff is enacted or defeated.

Another move was to "silence"
Senator George H. Moses, of New Hampshire, chairman of the Republican senatorial campaign committee, who termed the westerners
"Sons of the Wild Jackasses." The Moses "wisecrack", however, was not deemed important, since even the insurgents were ready to overlook it.

The cause of the breach lay far deeper. It was a conviction on the part of the insurgents that the eastern industrialists are using the party machinery for the sole purpose of benefiting the huge industrial interests of the east while refusing to render similar governmental aid to the agricultural west. An example, the insurgents said, was the action of eastern Republicans in demanding higher industrial duties while opposing the debenture plan of farm relief—which they say, would offset the effects of the tariff on western consumers.

The quarrel therefore rested on economic grounds and mere "wise-cracks" affected it little or not at all. Far more significant to the westerners was the action of Senator Bingham (R) of Conn., in taking a paid manufacturers lobbyist into the secret tariff sessions. So too, greater importance was attached to the statement of Joseph R. Grundy, the "grand-daddy of all lobbyists," that certain western "backward states"
"would talk darn small" in Congress. These two developments were cited by insurgents as prov-

4 KILLED. MANY HURT IN WRECK

ROCKWOOD, Tenn., Nov. 11.—
Four persons were killed, and 50
were injured, many of them seriously, early today when the Ponce
de Leon, crack Southern passenger train, was derailed at Glenmary,
Tenn. near here.

The dead.
Engineer W. B. Eisman.
Fireman Fred Frant.

An unidentified mail clerk.
An unidentified passenger.

The most seriously injured were rushed to Chattanooga on a special train.

One passenger, suffering from a fractured skull, was in such a critical condition, that he was removed to Rockwood, only a few miles away.

The cause of the derailment was not known. An investigation has been started by railway officials.

Columbus Police Hold Local Man On Driving Mark

Imposing mounted police, and racing black Marias with screaming sirens meant little or nothing in the life of John Stout of E.
Main-st., Circleville, Saturday night in Columbus, as he drove his swerving motor car merrily down
High-st. Autoists, and pedestrians alike skittered for safety.

The city police turned the chase over to deputy sheriffs from Franklin-co who followed Stout to Circleville, where five of them captured him and returned him to Columbus where he was charged with driving while intoxicated.

3 KILLED IN ELECTION RIOT

Expect Greater Violence In Mexican Presidential Election Next Sunday.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 11.—Extraordinary efforts were being made by authorities today to apprehend ringleaders of an election campaign riot staged on the avenue Jurez, one of this city's principal thoroughfares, resulting in the death of three persons and serious injuries to fourteen.

The clash occurred when a procession of 20,000 supporters of Jose Asconcelos were marching toward the national palace. The parade was halted by traffic at a street intersection when suddenly a hail of bricks and stones descended upon the marchers from roof-tops.

This was the signal for a fusillade of pistol and rifle firing, and for a minute thousands of men and women fought tooth and nail against political opponents.
More than 500 shots were fired
but comparatively few took effect.

Fears were expressed today the outbreak presages greater violence when Mexico goes to the polls in the presidential elections next Sunday. There has been considerable rivalry between Vascon-celos and his principal opponent, Pascual Ortiz Rubio.

While the rioting was at its peak
supporters of Vasconcelos set fire to the headquarters of Rubio,
nearby, and when the fire department arrived staunchly refused to allow the firemen to extinguish the blaze.

VENDER TAKEN IN BLOOMFIELD

MAN THOUGHT BADLY HURT IN ACCIDENT

Harry Gaver, 50, Near Columbus, Rushed To Mt. Carmel After Collision.

Harry Gaver, 50, of the Harrisburg-pk near Columbus, received what are thought to be fatal injuries Monday about 8 a. m. in an automobile accident on the Columbus-pk five miles north of town. O.
W. Wern of Columbus, the driver of the second car, a Davis, which figured in the accident received a compound fracture of the left arm
and other injuries.

Gaver and the two other occupants of his Packard car, a woman and a child were taken to Mt.
Carmel hospital in the Mader and Ebert ambulance. Wern was brought to Circleville by a passing motorist who took him to the office of Dr. E. S. Shane, who dressed his injuries.

It was thought that Gaver whose injuries were internal, would die
before he reached the hospital.
The woman had severe head injuries, and injuries to her chest.

Wern, a plasterer, was on his way to Circleville, to begin work on the new City hospital.

The accident was said to have happened when the Packard driven by Gaver attempted to pass a truck, and striking the back couplegate, swerved into the Wern automobile.

Both cars were almost completely wrecked. The Davis was taken to the Clifton garage, Circleville,
and the Packard to South Bloomfield.

RUBBER TIRE SAVES AUTO

Ford Skids and Goes Onto
Third Rail But Tire Saves
Car and Occupant.

A rubber automobile tire saved a Ford roadster and at least one occupant late Sunday when the car skidded in the Chillicothe road between the traction stops of Delno and Hinman and onto the third rail.

The car went onto the third rail with only the front tire resting on the rail. Since electricity will not pass through rubber the car did not become charged.

An approaching Scioto Valley Traction car was tagged and was taken back the track to shut off
the power.

The Ford was taken from the track, and although the identity of the driver, is not known, went on his way. The car was not even damaged.

16 Jump From Speeding Plane

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y.

today shared the world's record for consecutive parachute jumps from the same plane in a single flight.

The sixteen, as a concluding feature of the Armistice day air show of better than one a second, from a twin-motored Sikorsky as it cruised

STUDEBAKER IS BADLY DAMAGED

The Studebaker of W. H. Nelson was badly damaged Sunday at 4.30 p. m. when J. N. Thistle-

it as it stood in front of the Israel Valentine residence on N. Court-
st. The driver of the Columbus car said his machine skidded in the railroad track and swerved into the parked car. Mrs. Nelson had driven the car and was calling at the Valentine home.

Dr. George W. Heffner was brought to his home Sunday from Mt. Carmel hospital. Columbus,

LAWYER HELD FOR MURDER

Judge Brady Charged With Slashing Stenographer In Boarding House.

AUSTIN, Tex., Nov. 11.—Judge
John W. Brady, 57, former assistant state attorney general, was held on a murder charge here today as the result of the fatal
slashing of Miss Lehlia Highsmith, 25, stenographer to the supreme court commission of appeals.

Brady, widely known in legal circles and now a prominent practicing attorney here, was arrested following the fatal cutting of the girl in a boarding house near the state capital. She had been slashed with a large pocket knife.

Placed in jail overnight, Brady,
according to police, seemed unaware that he had been connected with the crime and offered to post a fine for drunkenness. He has been married many years. He has no children.

Examining trial was to be held in justice court this afternoon. In the meantime the former state official is held without bond.

D. B. Trimmer of Harlowton, Mont., arrived Sunday to spend the winter with his father, G. W.

of End of War.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—(INS)
—Simple ceremonies today marked the capital's observance of Armiscemetery, across the Potomac, and Mt. St. Albans were the scenes where thousands gathered to pay homage to those who paid war's supreme sacrifice.

First to visit Arlington, were President and Mrs. Hoover, with Secretary of War Good, and Secretary of the Navy Adams. Flanked by the two members of his cabinet, the chief executive stepped before the tomb of the unknown soldier, and there laid a wreath, symbolic of the country's reverence for its departed heroes.

Following the president, Mrs.
Hoover stood before the white tomb a moment later and deposited a second wreath in behalf of the mothers, wives and sisters who lost loved ones in the great conflict.

At noon, a second service was held at the tomb, with the very Rev. John J. Burke, general sec-

Arnold Rothstein's Mysterious Death Back In Spotlight At McManus Trial

One Hundred Talesmen Summoned For Jury Duty In Trial of New Yorker.

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—The mysterious murder of Arnold Rothstein—which ranks with the dotting strangle, the Elwell case
and other greatly publicized unsolved killings in New York City
—comes under the spotlight again tomorrow through the medium of a courtroom battle.

George McManus, a Broadway
bookmaker, will be formally placed on trial before Judge Charles C.
Nott Jr., in general sessions. He is charged with having fired the shot that killed Rothstein. A special panel of 100 talesmen has been directed to appear in court tomorrow for the selection of a jury.

The trial is expected to last about three weeks. More than 100 witnesses, including many underworld characters, are expected to testify.

Rothstein, a nationally known gambler, whose name has figured in many mysterious transactions—
including the fixing of the 1919
world series between the Chicago
White Sox and the Cincinnati Reds—was shot on the night of
Nov. 4, 1928, presumably in room 349 of the Park Central hotel to which place he had been summoned by a mysterious telephone call.

Half a dozen or more men were in room 349 that night. There was a hurried exodus after the shooting. The police found a top-coat lying on a chair, in the lining of which was sewed the name
"George McManus." For weeks detectives tried to run down the men who were in the room but their efforts met with little success. McManus, who was wanted for questioning, finally gave himself up. He denied he killed Rothstein and was released on $50,000
bail, after spending three months in the Tombs awaiting trial.

McManus was named as the actual slayer of Rothstein on Oct.
10 last. The statement was made in a bill of particulars which Judge Max Levine in general sessions ordered District Attorney Joab H. Banton to supply to defense counsel.

The bill set forth that Rothstein
was shot in the abdomen on Nov.
4, 1928, between 11 p. m. and 11
p. m. with a bullet fired from a 28-caliber revolver and that it will be claimed in behalf of the people of the state of New York

BOY SUFFERS CUTS
IN AUTO ACCIDENT

William Dunlap 12, son of Mr.
and Mrs. Harry Dunlap, of Williamsport received cuts on his head Sunday evening in an accident on the Williamsport-pike.

Mr. Dunlap was driving, and as he neared a bridge, he saw there was a car coming toward him.
At the spot where the two cars were to pass was parked the Essex coupe of John Hoffman, of Circleville. The road was too narrow for the three cars, and the Dunlap car slid into the Hoffman automobile.

It is thought that Hoffman had run into the bridge there, and hadn't had time to pull away. His car was brought to the Clifton garage.

BREAKS DOWN AFTER CRUEL 24-HR. GRILL

Tells of Killing Girl But Says
That Her Brother Died a Natural Death.

CAMDEN, N. J., Nov. 11.—
Gladys May Parks, alleged baby killer, today broke down beside the grave which she had dug with her own hands for two-year-old Timothy Rogers at Absecon, N. J.
Miss Parks, former piano player and model, is charged with the murder of Timothy and his sister, Dorothy, five-year-old, to whose care both children had been entrusted.

She was taken to a clump of bushes near a vacant lot.
"Is this where you buried the body?" Prosecutor Clifford Baldwin asked.

"Yes," she whispered, breaking
into sobs.
"Tell us just how you did it."
"Oh, I don't remember," cried
Miss Parks and went into hysterics.

Between sobs, she told in bits,
how she dug a shallow hole, and placed the child's nude body in it.
"I covered it with leaves," she said.

A large crowd followed the prisoner to the death spot.

Prosecutor Baldwin said he would have a board of alienists examine Miss Parks to determine her sanity.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 11.—
Gladys Parks Baker, South Jersey's "stone" woman, crumbled today under 24 hours of merciless police grilling and half-way admitted the slaying of one of the two little Roger children, Dorothy and Timothy, for whose murders she was sought through half a dozen states. The latter statement of the two little tots were found in South Jersey wastelands.

Her stone-like composure broken
by the continuous grilling, the woman admitted slaying the 5-year-old girl with a blow of her hand and hiding her body near National Park, N. J. The body of the child's 20-months old brother was hidden in a thicket near Absecon, she confessed. He died a natural death, she insisted.

CALL SUNDAY COURT
Started at the sordid details of the crime Camden authorities broke all precedents and convened a Sunday court holding her with-

ently overwhelmed at her confession, also was held without bail as a material witness. He is Anthony

Surrendering in Newark, N. J., early Sunday explaining she was wanted in Camden and came into the police headquarters to "straighten out" the matter, Mrs. Baker was grilled and rushed to Camden where she was grilled and grilled again as police endeavored to "force a confession from her. Through all the hours of the ordeal she maintained her rock-like composure asserting the children died natural deaths. It was during repeated accounts of the death of the little girl that she halfway admitted the child died at her hand last night. The boy fell

POLICE SEARCH FOR BANDITS

Four Men Get $50,000 At Fashionable Party After Football Contest.

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—Police today searched for two bandits following a daring raid by four armed bandits at a society dance at Champaign, Ill., which netted the robbers approximately $50,000.

The four entered the mansion of H. H. Harris, president of the General Almy company, in the midst of a party Saturday night
following the Illinois-Army football game.

C. W. Ketchman, one of two bandits captured and believed fatally wounded, is said to have made a complete confession.

The robbery ended in a pitched battle between police and the bandits on the ballroom floor of the Harris home.

Many of the 100 guests were high officers in the army who witnessed the football game. Dr. David Kinley, president of the University of Illinois and his daughter, Miss Janet Kinley, were among the victims.

Among the guests were: Mrs.
A. W. Davis of Cincinnati; Mr.
and Mrs. Roy Atwater of Detroit;

SPINAGO WOULD HAVE SAVED ME TWENTY YEARS OF SUFFERING

Circleville Man Loud In His Praise of New Spinach Tonic After It Demonstrates Its Worth.

Not a tonic that makes claims which it cannot fulfill; not a tonic that talks and does not act. Such is Spinago. It is an efficient, quick remedy whose feats speak for themselves. Countless residents of Circleville have found this out and are thanking this master medicine for the health it has brought them. Its practical formula makes it possible for it to give quick and lasting results in cases of stomach, liver and bowel troubles, indigestion, dyspepsia, constipation, rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness. In cases of anemic, sluggish and impure blood; in ailments resulting from a worn out condition of the body, delivers and brings back health.

NOAH BOWSHER.
Witness the case of Noah Bowsher who resides in this city at the Main Hotel. Mr. Bowsher suffered terribly from dyspepsia and stomach trouble. But let him tell his own story.

"For twenty years my stomach gave me no end of trouble. Dyspepsia caused me to pick my foods with great care, denying me those I desired and confining me to those which would give me no trouble. Even with the simplest of foods, indigestion caused gas on my stomach, belching and misery after every meal. Is it any wonder that my appetite vanished? A continual sick headache stuck with me practically all of the time and my weight dropped away due to undernourishment. "But all this was before I heard of Spinago. So many, many remedies had failed to help me that it was only with persuasion that I finally decided to give this new medicine a trial. Two bottles, greatly to my surprise, changed everything for me. I am not troubled with dyspepsia, constipation or indigestion any more. My food digests easily and nothing I eat gives me trouble. What a relief it is to know that I can pick my foods as I please; that I can eat with freedom with no fear of discomfort or pain; and that my bodily condition is improving daily. And all praise to Spinago for these wonders."

Spinago, the most important ingredient of Spinago is responsible for much of its effectiveness. But not alone, as this super tonic is made up of a carefully selected assortment of medically valuable roots, herbs and barks, each one of which works both separately and in co-operation with all the others in combatting and driving out the most stubborn ailments. Why not try a bottle of this amazing compound today? You will never regret the trial. Spinago is sold and guaranteed in Circleville by The Mykranitz Pharmacy, 107 N. Court St. and by all other good druggists in this section.—Adv.

CIRCLEVILLE MERCHANTS SHOW UNEXPECTED POWER BEATING COLUMBUS FINNERANS, 7 TO 0

Locals With Only Few Practices Sweep Columbus Team Off Their Feet In Nearly All Quarters To Win Contest—Touchdown Comes After 65-Yard March—Team Looks Good.

The Circleville Merchants football team showed unexpected strength in their first contest of the season Sunday at Mason's field, and in a steady downpour of rain defeated an heretofore unscored-upon eleven, the Columbus Finneran Clothiers, by a count of 7 to 0.

The locals showing a decided lack of practice outfought, outgamed, outgained, outgeneraled, and right down to the fine point of the contest, outscored the hefty Clothiers, whose chief weapon on a football field proved to be a steady flow of "crabbing."

START RIGHT
The Merchants stepped right out in the opening period and after a few nice plays had the ball deep in the Columbus territory. Two bright plays in the opening session gave the Merchants plenty of yardage.

The first was a pass to Turk Baucher after the Merchant left end had hidden in deep grass at the side of the field. The heave was for 15 yards and Baucher carried the leather five yards before he was pulled down. The second was a pretty end run by Howard White, former Chillicothe star, who slipped and set a 20-yard end for almost 20 yards. (We say almost because rain had just about erased any whitewash that had been played on the lines, and yardage had to be guessed at.) The Merchants took the ball to between the Columbus 15 and 20 yard line where they lost on downs.

The Merchants continued their offensive through the second and third quarters, playing their heavier opponents decidedly off their feet but numerous five yard penalties, brought about by incomplete forward passes, took much yardage from them.

The Columbus gang staged an offensive at the start of the third period but after they had advanced the leather to within scoring distance, a Circleville lineman, St. Baucher, covered a fumble on his 12-yard line and the ball started back down the field.

At the beginning of the fourth period the Merchants had the ball on their own 35-yard line.

STEADY MARCH
A steady march down the field with Howard White, Eve Merriman, Watson and Ralph Wallace totting the pigskin took the ball to the Finneran three yard line with a first down.

Two plays put the ball almost on the goal line and on the third it looked like the ball was over the goal, but was ruled otherwise. When another stab into the line was expected, White took the ball from center and outran three Columbus tacklers to cross the goal around his left end.

Merriman nonchalantly stepped back and dropped the extra point. The score was 7 to 0.

All the Merchants looked good in this contest and with a few more practices will be plenty tough for any middleweight football machine in this section of Ohio.

AL MARSTERS TOPS SCORERS

Although In Hospital From Injury, Star Tops Field With 108.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11—Despite the fact that Saturday found him on his back in the infirmary, Al Marsters of Dartmouth today still leads in the race for individual scoring honors in the east. The injured Green back has 108 points, some 32 tallies better than Morris of Haverford in second place.

Uansa of the undefeated Pittsburgh eleven scored one touchdown against W and J and holds third position with 67.

Fourth place is shared by Dowlar of Colgate and Hinkel of Bucknell each having 66 points.

The leaders:
Marsters, Dartmouth 108
Morris, Haverford 75
Uansa, Pittsburgh 67
Dowlar, Colgate 66
Hinkel, Bucknell 66

AGAIN TRY TO KILL PREMIER

Mussolini, However, Carries Charm As Bullets Go Astray.

LONDON, Nov. 11.—(INS.)—An alleged attempt to assassinate Premier Mussolini on Oct. 10, was revealed today in a dispatch to the London Daily Chronicle from its correspondent at Nice.

The fact that a new attempt was made on the life of the Italian dictator is said to be confirmed from Rome, Turin and Milan.

The Rome report declares the attempt took place while the Premier was motoring to Ostia from Rome. He was riding in the last of a procession of three automobiles, three rifle shots were fired, one of the bullets striking the engine of the second car and another narrowly missing the wife of Signora Guina, a member of the cabinet.

A total of 200 persons were arrested in the subsequent investigation this report declares.

The Turin report confirms the above story in its major details, but adds a member of the police escort was seriously wounded.

According to the Milan version, however, the attempt occurred while the Premier was at Ostia, investigating archeological excavations recently made there.

Premier Mussolini has escaped so many attempts upon him that he has often been said to bear a "charmed life." He still bears the scar of a bullet which pierced his nostril.

OHIO UNIVERSITY ANNEXES BUCKEYE GRIDIRON CONFALON

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 11—Ohio University's Bobcats today are the 1929 champions of the Buckeye Intercollegiate Athletic Association.

More than two weeks before the football season closes, the issue has been decided. This was the result of two gridiron tilts Saturday in which Ohio ran wild through Denison, 54 to 0, and Ohio Wesleyan and Wittenberg battled to a scoreless tie.

Even though Ohio loses its last "Big Six" tiff with Wittenberg, which is very unlikely, the little Athens-co college will still retain the championship. It is that far ahead in the race.

It is interesting to note that Ohio beat Denison, 54 to 0, and that Navy, in an early season game, only rolled up 47 points against the Granville aggregation. Ohio used its second-stringers throughout the entire last half.

RIVALS PLAY TIE
Wittenberg and Wesleyan, which were tied for first honors in the E. A. A., last year, staged the real classic in Ohio Saturday. It was featured by a 100-yard run by Stan Plummer, of the fighting Lutherans, who took the ball on the kick-off and ran the entire length of the field. The ball was called back to midfield, however, when the referee maintained that Plummer had stepped out of bounds at the 50-yard stripe.

Dayton's University's Flyers staged a last period rally to take a 15-to-2 win from St. Xavier, which shows that Dayton has a better crew of gridiron warriors than most people supposed. This writer predicted that the contest would end differently, and he quotes another sport writer, who said the game was "something of an upset." By emerging triumphant from the gruelling fray, Dayton obtains possession of Governor Cooper's 31-inch trophy cup until next year when it will have to win again if it wants to keep the prize.

STAR INJURED
Miami, though rejoicing over its 20-to-0 victory over the strong Oberlin Ohio conference team, is bemoaning the loss of Butler, a star halfback, who broke his arm in the contest. Miami made 14 first downs and held Oberlin to one.

John Carroll played its first Ohio conference game and managed to send the Student Princes of Heidelberg back to Tiffin with a 20-to-0 defeat. Heidelberg, which was undefeated last year, simply couldn't get going and Carroll had things its own way during the entire conflict.

Western Reserve returned to Cleveland with the small end of a 36-to-0 score. The Wild Cats played the mighty Cornell team, so who could expect the result to And while things were moving read differently? along swiftly in the Ohio and Buckeye conferences, Bowling Green clinched a tie for 1929 honors in the Northwest Ohio conference by rolling Bluffton, 15 to 0. Bluffton maintained a record all of its own, namely, it hasn't scored a point during the entire season.

Reverting to the Ohio conference, Wooster wallopped Case, 46 to 6. The Bolesmen deserve laurels for piling up such a large score, but at the same time, they should be reprimanded for allowing the weak Scientist team to score.

Muskingum, playing a non-conference game with Bethany of West Virginia, took a 25-to-0 win. Marietta trounced Capital, 24 to 0, and Mt. Union beat Kenyon, 25 to 7. Kenyon meets Ohio State next week. Ashland sent Theil of Pennsylvania home carrying on the little end of a 31-to-7 score.

Live Life to The Full

This is the most amazing century in the history of the world. Within the brief span of twenty-five years man has learned to fly, to talk across space, to see through living bodies. No one knows what miracles the next quarter of a century will produce.

But it is not in these more spectacular inventions alone that human progress has leaped ahead.

Since the dawn of civilization women have aged faster than men. The deadly monotonous routine and drudgery of housekeeping has borne them down.

But modern science has taken away the chief causes of drudgery. Through advertising, women by the millions have found a way to have water, light, heat, cold... at the touch of a finger. No women of even the most modest means need be a drudge today if she reads advertising.

It is advertising that has stimulated an overwhelming demand for these newer, better things of life. And this demand has made possible tremendous new industries furnishing well-paid work for millions of men. An endless circle that has made the average American family today the healthiest, happiest and most prosperous in all the world.

ing their charge that the Republican party in the industrial east has nothing in common with the Republican party in the agricultural west.

The Insurgents, if they carry their fight forward,—and only a miracle apparently can halt them—will seek to gain control of the party in the 1930 elections, and failing in that, carry their battles to the polls in the presidential election of 1932. If the Insurgents do battle to defeat "regulars" in the 1930 elections, veteran observers predicted, there will be an entirely new realignment of the party west of the Alleghenies with numerous "middle of the road" Republicans, throwing their voices, votes and influence to the Insurgent banker. These "middle of the road" western Republicans have argued that any other course will retire them to private life.

As for the presidential election of 1932, the hint that Borah might run as an Independent or third party candidate for president has aroused smiles in many quarters. The smiles were caused by recollection of the fact that in 1912, Borah after vigorously denouncing the nomination of William Howard Taft, remained loyal and faithful to the party in the following election. Some observers professed to believe he would remain loyal to the Republican nominee in 1932, regardless of interim developments.

The Insurgents think differently. They pointed out that while Borah frequently has laid down his arms when party warfare threatened Republican success, he has shown no hesitancy to wage relentless war against his party's leaders or even President Hoover in the tariff battles. With a great economic issue at stake, they added, Borah would be eager to lead a third party cause.

As for Norris and Johnson, every one seemed agreed they would be willing to lead a revolt movement if the issue were important enough and the stakes high enough. It was pointed out that Norris bolted in 1928 to support Alfred E. Smith, the Democratic presidential nominee, while Johnson bolted in 1912 to serve as the running-mate to the late Theodore Roosevelt.

A summary of the situation can be given from interviews with leaders of the opposing factions. Thus:

Senator McNary (R) of Oregon, a "middle of the road" spokesman: "Eastern Republicans will lose more than westerners if there is a definite split. I believe the breach will be healed and the party reunited by next November."

Senator Vandenberg (R) of Michigan, another "middle of the road" leader: "Unless needlessly loose language stops, the Republican party will find itself bounded on the west by the Allegheny mountains."

Senator Brookhart (R) of Iowa, Insurgent: "The Independents are already organized for 1930."

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

dawn the cellar steps of the home where she was living in Camden and died from the effects of the fall she said. He died Aug. 22. The girl had died on Aug. 7. She hid the girl's body under some bushes after keeping it in her home until the neighbors began to question her regarding the peculiar odor about the building, she told the police. The boy's body was taken to Absecon because she feared to report his death after the little girl's disappearance being afraid of police questioning.

BLACKMAIL SCHEME

In an effort to obtain further confessions Camden police planned today to take her first to National Park and then to Absecon where the skeletons were found. The hope that by forcing her to re-enact the disposal of the bodies her composure may be further broken down and she will add to the accounts of the crimes already given.

Coincident with the woman's arrest and detention at the jail came substantiation of the police theory that she had been employing the children as pawns in blackmailing operations against wealthy residents of Philadelphia, Atlantic City and elsewhere. With this latest development came also the fear that she may have similarly disposed of at least four other children, now believed to have been under her care at one time or another. Police of a number of cities have been asked to render reports

Razing of Babylon Not Completed by Darius

Babylon was never entirely destroyed after the time of the conquest by Darius, described in the Book of Daniel. That conquest took place in the year 521 B. C., but except that part of the walls was razed during a rebellion in 514, Darius did not destroy systematically. His son, Xerxes, destroyed part of the great temple of Bel, or Baal, called E— Sagilla, which was also a fortress. The religion of Darius, however, was monotheistic Zoroastrianism and because of this many temples fell into disrepair. About 312 B. C. a dynasty arose called the Seleucids, founded by a general of Alexander the Great. He conquered Babylon in 323. When the Seleucids founded the new capital Seleucia near Babylon they used the ancient city as a quarry and there is a record that in 275 B. C. all the inhabitants of Babylon were transported to the new town, though it is known that religious services were still held in the old temple of Bel a century later.—Montreal Family Herald.

Speedy Relief For Sore Throat

This Doctor's Prescription Requires No Gargling.

No longer is it necessary to gargle and choke with nasty tasting medicines to relieve sore throat. Now you can get almost instant relief with one swallow of a doctor's prescription. This prescription was refilled so often and became so popular that the druggist who originally filled it decided to put it up under the name Thoxine and make it available to everyone.

The remarkable thing about Thoxine is that it relieves almost instantly. It contains nothing harmful. It is pleasant tasting, and safe for the whole family, and is guaranteed to relieve sore throats or coughs in 15 minutes or money back. Just ask for Thoxine, 35c, 60c and $1.00. Sold by Hamilton & Ryan, and all other good drug stores.—Adv.

"CHIPS IN THE GAME"

On the one side, Joseph R. Grundy, Pennsylvania lobbyist; on the other, Thomas Jefferson, author of the Declaration of Independence. On the one side, Joseph R. Grundy, believer in majority rule; on the other, Alexander Hamilton, who considered that majorities might conceivably be wrong.

Mr. Grundy, indeed, has resumed a debate which was threshed out in this country in 1787, but which was general in the civilized world from the days of Pericles and Plato. What are the objects of government, and by what means are they best obtained?

Thomas Jefferson, student of philosophy, said in the Declaration that all men have certain inalienable rights. "Among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. To secure these rights, governments are instituted, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed."

The farmers and adopters of the Declaration believed these statements, even though they probably would have differed among themselves as to what constitutes "the pursuit of happiness." That question is debatable today.

Thomas Jefferson believed in liberty of the individual insofar as it did not interfere seriously with the liberty of other individuals, and that men would find their greatest happiness in such freedom to pursue their inclinations.

Mr. Grundy evidently believes that the pursuit of happiness can only be undertaken successfully under a tariff dictated by Pennsylvania. If other people do not think so, they should hide their thoughts modestly, and realize that as Pennsylvania thinks, so ought the Union.

"They have no chips in the game," says Mr. Grundy. "They should talk damn small."

But the danger of this domination of the American Republic by wealth was clearly seen by Alexander Hamilton himself the great patron of manufacturing in his day. If there was to be union for the objects outlined in the Declaration of Independence and the preamble of the Constitution, the less populous and less wealthy states must be given protection. So he wrote in The Federalist:

"But as the larger states will always be able, by their power over the supplies, to defeat unreasonable exertions of this prerogative (equal vote in the senate) of the lesser states, and as the facility and excess of lawmaking seem to me the diseases to which our governments are most liable, it is not impossible that this part of the Constitution may be more convenient in practice than it appears to many in contemplation."

Hamilton was right; in practice, equal representation in the senate has saved this country from many serious blunders, not the least of which has been the desire of the industrial section, or the cotton section, or the wheat section, to dominate legislation, to devote it to local interests at national expense, and to penalize portions of the country for the aggrandizement of others.

The Grundy theory, that the pursuit of happiness is the pursuit of wealth, and that opponents of this theory should talk small or remain silent, was discarded by the Constitutional Convention 142 years ago because it was not in keeping with the spirit of America as defined by Thomas Jefferson in the Declaration of Independence.

STILL CARRYING ON

"The Masked Hostess"

by BLAIR STEVENSON

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

John Sloan, young New York attorney, is called into the office of the firm's senior partner and informed that he is to handle the affairs of "Happy Jack" Van-Slack, wealthy sportsman, who has died suddenly leaving only an abandoned Long Island estate, The Elm, and memories of a wiped-out fortune to his beautiful young daughter, Nathalie. As the lawyers discuss this crisis, Miss Van-Slack arrives from Europe. The senior law partner tells her of her financial position and that the only chance to obtain money is through young Sloan's handling of the Long Island estate. Nathalie courageously tells them she will go at once to a rich relative.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER III.
MESSENGER will bring you a memorandum of the train schedule immediately," said the assistant manager, his face reflecting due acknowledgment of the importance of the very name of Mrs. Pemberton Swayne.

When he had gone Nathalie looked about her and took heart of grace from the roses which the management had had placed on her dressing table and the orderly luxury of the dignified, old-fashioned room. Her trunk had been placed where they could be conveniently opened. A special maid had been assigned her after it had been learned that she was traveling without a maid of her own. It was the first time in her life she had been without a personal servant. Always she had been accustomed to the service which money summons. Even to occupy one room in a hotel instead of a suite was an experience she had never known.

As the room and the roses on the table continued to comfort and encourage her she emptied the contents of her purse and took toll of what money she had. The sum amounted to $100. She had known, when she left her lawyers, that she had enough to settle for the taxicab which had brought her up town. After paying for it there still remained, as she counted her money over, two single dollar bills and a trifle of small change. Not even enough for her train fare! Regrettably she got the pocket checkbook she had been given by Mr. Horne and consulted it to learn the name of the bank where her tiny balance lay. The checkbook revealed the name of the bank, but not the bank's location. It was too important an institution for that. So she called the hotel manager and asked if he could learn the address.

He gave it, but added: "If all you wish is to draw money you need not go to your bank. The hotel will be always happy to cash any check you present to us."

She had luncheon served in her room. The maid who had been assigned her brought a memorandum of the Southampton trains and inquired if Nathalie would have her trunks unpacked. Nathalie said yes, and then changed her order, directing that the trunks be forwarded as they were to Mrs. Swayne's at Southampton. She was certain that while the money at her command would pay her hotel expenses for a day or two, it would not cover a longer stay than that. She determined that when she left for Long Island, her train would go in a little more than an hour, she would give up her room and explain that she was not coming back.

She had no inclination for the luncheon which was brought in.

not know Mrs. Swayne. He booked steamship passage for Nathalie herself, paying for it himself, and later writing Mr. Swayne that he had done so. He and his wife rode from London in the boat train with Nathalie and installed her on the ship.

Just before the Mauretania sailed he had tried to press money into Nathalie's hands, but she would not take it, saying that she had enough for her few days on shipboard and that she would meet when the ship arrived in New York. He called Mrs. Swayne then, giving particularly the day when the Mauretania was due to dock and stressing that Nathalie had not allowed him to advance her incidental travel money. Nathalie left the Waldorf just before three o'clock. Before going downstairs she filled out a her journey across the ocean. But one memory among them was grateful, and she clung to it. A famous English sportsman—Lord Winston—at whose home she and her father had been guests for the race week during which he had been killed had been meaning to take her and his guests with him on his country estate with his butlers, keeping her at his beautiful country estate with his butlers, and in the midst of his relatives and lawyers in America. He had learned to be a sportsman, but had refrained from doing so, that her father had died so suddenly, everything he had done up through his open book. Then a dignified letter from Mr. Swayne telling her to go to Nathalie to her had reached him.

As she went to the bank desk to cash it and to explain that she would give up her room, suddenly she remembered the name of the bank and the friendliness of its manager, and that she had not left her room and came out from Southampton if all went well. She presented her check. The man who took it smiled at her. "Are you sure this will be enough?" he asked. "My orders are to honor your checks to any amount."

DR. COPELAND SAYS—

STIMULATE THE HEART WITH JOY, ENTHUSIASM

Fatigue and a Flagging Heart Usually Go Together, Says Authority, Telling How Pleasurable Thoughts Will Bring a Feeling of Well-Being.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.
United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

IN THESE days there is much dispute over the use of stimulants. There is marked difference of opinion regarding them.

Why does a doctor ever prescribe a stimulant? It is to give the whip to a flagging heart. It matters not what drug is given, whether it is strychnine, alcohol, aromatic spirits or something else. The purpose is to excite the heart to more energetic action.

But there are other ways to stimulate the heart than by the giving of drugs. Happiness, joy, enthusiasm, excitement, pleasurable emotions—all of these are almost as stimulating as wine or powerful drugs.

Once when President Monroe was an old man he had occasion to take part in a social function given in his honor. Much praise was given him, of course. When some one suggested he must be tired out, he replied: "A little flattery will support a man through a great fatigue."

That was a gracious and tactful reply, but it is more than this. It is the foundation of a great psychological and physiological truth. When the heart flags then comes fatigue.

A tired feeling and a weak heart are frequently associated. It often happens that the greater the fatigue, the weaker the pulse.

If a tired person, with flagging heart and weak pulse, is given an appropriate dose of a heart stimulant, there is almost immediate response. The pulsations grow stronger and the blood is sent in more powerful streams to every part of the body and brain.

What happens then? The feeling of fatigue grows less and, for the time, it may disappear entirely. There develops a sense of physical well-being.

But to accomplish this it is not necessary to give wine or a drug, because, as Mr. Monroe so aptly said, "a little flattery will support a man through a great fatigue." The pleasing words of a kindly tongue may excite the heart, set the pulse to beating and remove the symptoms of fatigue.

The mind has a recognized control over the bodily functions. It is not a mysterious matter either. Mind and brain are so interlocked that when the mind is aroused the brain sends its message to every part of the body, including the heart. This impulse may excite the heart to further action, or it may abate and retard its movements.

I would not have you get the impression drugs are never needed. In my opinion, many a man at the brink of death has been revived and restored to health and vigor, by the use of a proper restorative. But each of us is sure to be stimulated and kept alert by pleasurable thoughts and emotions.

Answers to Health Queries

M. S. H. Q.—What can I do for a red nose?

A.—Poor circulation. Indigestion and constipation are usually at fault for this trouble.

T. R. P. Q.—Is vinegar used in the rinsing water injurious to the hair?

A.—No.

E. G. Q.—What can I do for blackheads?

A.—Correct the diet, by cutting down on sugar, starches and coffee. Eat simple food. Avoid constipation. Get lots of fresh air and night. For further particulars, kindly send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and restate your question.

M. C. L. Q.—What is the diet for a child of five years who is troubled with eczema?

A.—How can a child of this age be cured of sucking the thumb and biting the nails?

A.—Abstain from starches, sugar, etc. Add to the diet milk, cream, fresh eggs and green vegetables. For further particulars, kindly send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and restate your question.

F. S. Q.—How can I get rid of superfluous hair on the face?

PROBE GAS BLAST AT ELYRIA PLANT

ELYRIA, O., Nov. 11.—(INS)—While gloom-stricken Elyria pre- pared to bury the first of the vic- tims of Saturday's tragic explo- sion disaster today, Coroner M. E. Perry pushed his investigation into the blast which demolished the Timms Spring company, plant here and took a toll of six lives and in- jured four.

The explosion occurred when a workman lighted a cigarette in the gas-filled factory. The gas is be- lieved to have escaped from a new gas heater which recently was in- stalled in the plant.

The four injured persons are ex- pected to recover, according to hos- pital attaches at Elyria Memorial hospital.

BANDITS LOOT TRAIN IN WEST

Holdup Brings Back Memories of Old West—No One Badly Injured.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 11.—Episodes of the old wild west were recalled today as posses searched for a group of bandits who wrecked the crack Southern Pacific "West Coast" Limited near here last night and as passengers crawled from the overturned coaches, lined them up and robbed them.

The engine, baggage car, the smoker and the first coach hurtled to the ditch and overturned. Several other coaches were derailed but remained upright.

According to first reports received here, the only known casualty was Engineer R. C. Ball, who was badly scaled. Although a number of passengers were suffering from cuts and contusion doctors who were hurried to the scene in ambulances when news of the wreck was first received had not reported any others seriously injured.

The bandit crew is believed to have removed a section of rail, causing the locomotive and first coaches to leap wildly from the track.

A shot or two was fired in the air when the train came to a sudden halt and then the desperadoes lined up the shaken passengers and relieved them of their valuables. Several of the band boarded the upright coaches and methodically robbed their occupants. Their looting finished, the bandits mounted horses and fled into the hills. A large posse of deputy sheriffs and volunteers started in pursuit in automobiles, but the wild terrain handicapped them and they were forced to send for horses with which to take up the chase.

Victims disagreed as to the number in the band.

"Let's get up a Newspaper ad"

This is No. 5 of a series of ads depicting the various branches of advertising. In ad No. 4 we discussed the engraving. Watch for No. 6 in an early issue.

Our story must be put into words---

We must tell the story of "Roseanne" dresses convincingly—our copy must create a desire to own a "Roseanne" dress... It must appeal to women of all ages and instill in their minds the idea that a visit to the "Roseanne" Dress Shoppe will be both profitable and enjoyable. This "copy" must be concise and to the point as it will later appear in cold type.

For the benefit of Herald advertisers we offer the use of the Meyer Both General Newspaper Feature Service which contains scores of "copy" suggestions prepared by experienced advertising writers who thoroughly understand the manifold merchandising problems confronting the merchant. Our representative will gladly explain this service in detail.
